Would you like messages from the message board emailed to you?

yes No

In the system is a message board where members can post messages. If you would like to receive these messages, then select Yes.

To use the system, do the following:

Member Login

Username

Password

Enter your username and password. Then click on Login.

This will take you to the Member area where you will see the following three(3) options:

Here you can view and edit your profile as your needs change.

Use this to search for those in the database with whom you might want to contact for a Joint Venture.

Here you can post messages on the message board. These messages will also be emailed to those who marked “Yes” that they want to receive messages as they are posted.

We hope you find this service useful in helping you gain customers and build your business. Encourage your business associates to join. The larger the database of members, the more relationships you can form.
